

Maria Levy is a graphic designer and sculptor living and working in Santa Fe, NM. Her love of the natural world is reflected in her organic and biomorphic sculptures. Her love of reading influenced her decision to study graphic design and become a book designer. She especially enjoys working on books about her favorite topics: art, fashion, food, children, jewelry. She also loves the process of distilling clients ideas and needs into visual form.